AN UNMANLY COURSE.—In its issue of Sunday last the Enterprise contained a long article exposing the attempt of the Genoa Courier to exact money from Senator Sharon. While engaged in this perfectly commendable undertaking, however, its editor could not refrain from getting in its usual stab at the Appeal, and in doing so it endeavored to convey the idea that this journal was an accessory to the blackmail operations of the Courier. The argument by which he attempted to force this conclusion upon the public did him no credit as a journalist or a logician, and the effort to besmirch the Appeal had the result of weakening the exposure which he was making of the Courier. The Appeal in its next issue pointed out to the Enterprise the absurdity of its proposition and there was nothing left for the Enterprise to do but to make a gentlemanly apology for its work of Sunday. This the editor has not seen fit to do, which only further confirms the impression first made upon us, that the portion of the article relating to the Appeal was purely malicious and in every way in keeping with the character of the man who penned it. The fact that the lying insinuations was published in the Enterprise and refuted in the Appeal makes it all the more a requirement of honor that the Enterprise should set the matter right, as the circulation of the Enterprise is much larger than the Appeal. Unless we have wholly mistaken the character of our accuser, we are still of the opinion that he will refrain from tendering the honorable amende, proper under such circumstances.

CAPITAL PLAN.—An enterprising and fair dealing business man in Augusta, Maine, was lately met at the door of his grocery by an honest looking Frenchman, an entire stranger to him, who asked credit for a barrel of flour. "I can pay half the cash down and the balance next Saturday, sure." The merchant without hesitation, turned to one of his clerks, and kindly smiling upon the would be owner of a barrel of flour, said: This good man wants to get trusted for a barrel of flour; he'll pay half down and the rest next Saturday. I'll risk him; he's good as gold. Open a fresh barrel, weigh out half, deliver it in good shape at his house, put the barrel away safely, and take it down next Saturday when he pays the balance. Never refuse to trust an honest looking man for bread." It was done, the money paid, and the French gentleman departed, rejoicing in an abundance of flour and unlimited credit.

Here comes another paper that Sharon's organs will have to expostulate with. The Sacramento Bee, an able and staunch Republican paper says:

Most of the San Francisco stock brokers are thinking of entering the fight for the United States Senatorship of Nevada. They think they are as much entitled to it as Sharon is, and we don't see why not. If it is to be a question of "sack," why shouldn't it be a free-for-all race?

CORRECT.—Whenever we see a flash of sense gleam from the columns of a contemporary we are glad to publish it. The Tribune of last night says:

One-half the domestic misery in the world is caused by men who drink and women who can't cook.

And all men are originally driven to drink by bad cooking.

The Sentinel would make it appear that Gen Sabin's many friends in Eureka are so greatly disappointed at his failure to receive the nomination for Justice of the Supreme Court, that they will give the successful candidate but a lukewarm support at the best. Gen Sabin is too much of a man to permit himself, or any of his friends, to become sore-headed over an honorable defeat. We are confident that Judge Beatty will have no warmer friend and supporter in the State than Gen Sabin.—White Pine News

CAPTAIN STONE, manager of Mand 8, has received a cablegram from Vanderbilt, her owner, instructing him not to start the mare again this season, he being fully satisfied with her achievements and requesting the mare be retained for his own personal use.

It is the Ruby Hill News that threatens its contemporaries with "unshirred hell." A sort of vague allusion, doubtless, to the naked truth.

The Chronicle has bounced Major Stenehill from the Democratic party just in time to make room for Gen. Clarke

The libel suit instituted by James Kinkead against the Reno Gazette has been dismissed.

Trouble in the New York Democracy.
New York, August 25.

The Herald says: The Democrats of that State will hardly be reunited, as Tammany insists upon a full recognition of its regularity in the contest for city patronage at the next municipal election, and the Tildenites find themselves between the devil and deep sea. It is not yet certain that the feud will be healed at all, and if it remains open Garfield will be the next President.

Athletes Fighting in Water.
PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 25.

In the Caledonian games yesterday the wrestling match between Duncan C. Ross, the Scotch champion, and John C. Daly, the Irish champion, three falls in five, for $500, Ross won the first fall in fifteen minutes, and also the second, and on the third they both fell from the boat on which the wrestling was progressing, and after striking each other some vicious blows in the water, causing great excitement, they were lifted out of the water.

Sherman's Letters to be Published.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.

General Sherman says that the letters he wrote to Hancock in 1876, and to which Hancock replied at length, are to be published in the new biography of the General, in connection with the letter already printed.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.

Thomas & Co's mills and other buildings were burned this morning. Loss, over half a million dollars.

THE LONGEST SPEECH.—The longest speech on record is believed to have been made by Mr. De Cosmos in the Legislature of British Columbia when a measure was pending, the passage of which would have taken from a great many settlers their lands. De Cosmos was in a hopeless minority. This job had held back until the eve of the close of the session. Unless legislation was taken before noon of the given day, the Act of confiscation would fail. The day before the expiration, De Cosmos got the floor about 10 A. M., and began a speech against the bill. His friends cared little for they supposed that by 1 or 2 o'clock he would be through, and the bill would be put on its passage. One o'clock came, and De Cosmos was speaking still; he hadn't more than entered upon the subject. At 2 o'clock he was saying: "In the same place." At 3 o'clock he produced a fearful bundle of evidence, and insisted on reading it. The majority began to have suspicion of the truth; he was going to speak until the next noon and kill the bill. For a while they made merry over it, but as it came to dusk they began to get alarmed. They tried interruptions, but soon abandoned them because each interruption offered him a chance to digress and gain time. They tried to shout him down, but that gave him breathing space, and finally they sat down to watch the combat between strength of will and weakness of body. They gave him no mercy, no adjournment for dinner, no chance to more than wet his lips with water, no wading from the subject, no sitting down. Twilight darkened, the gas lit, the members slipped out to dinner in relays and returned to sleep in squads; but De Cosmos went on with his speech. The speaker, to whom he was addressing himself, was alternately dozing, snoring, and trying to look wide awake. Day dawned and the majority slipped out in squads to breakfast, and the speaker still held on. It cannot be said that it was a very logical, eloquent or sustained speech. There were digressions in it, repetitions also; but still the speaker kept on. At last noon came to a baffled majority, livid with rage and impotency, and to a single man who was triumphant, though his voice had sunk to a husky whisper, his eyes were almost shut, and were bleared and bloodshot; his legs tottered under him and his bared lips were cracked and smeared with blood. De Cosmos had spoken twenty-six hours, and had saved the settlers their lands.

THE Reflex is continuously saying mean things about Comins—than whom a purer man never sat in a Legislature in any State.—Va. Enterprise

Does the Enterprise intend this for a joke, or does it mean to cast a slur upon the members of the Legislatures in other States?—Picche Record.
